SCHNEIDER WALLACE COTTRELL BRAYTON KONECKY LLP

Schneider Wallace Cottrell Brayton Konecky LLP, founded in 1993, specializes in employment, disability and civil rights and consumer rights litigation. Our class action practice focuses on impact litigation with a goal of remedying systemic consumer fraud and violations of the law in employment, public accommodations, testing and education.

Schneider Wallace Cottrell Brayton Konecky LLP and/or its partners have been appointed class counsel in many cases over the last sixteen years, including, but not limited to:

- Rosa v. Morrison Homes: a statewide construction defect case, certified as a class action on behalf of more than 400 home owners alleging that Morrison Homes failed to construct their homes in compliance with applicable building codes and standards.
- Wren, et al. v. RGIS Inventory Specialists: a national wage and hour action involving claims under federal and state law, certified as a class and collective action on behalf of approximately 80,000 current and former employees nationwide.
- Bates v. United Parcel Service: a first of its kind national disability discrimination class action on behalf of all deaf employees of UPS, which resulted in a partial settlement of $5.8 million and, after a trial on the remaining claims, a liability verdict in favor of the Plaintiff class that was appealed and later settled.
- Lopez, et al. v. San Francisco Unified School District: a disability access class action on behalf of all mobility-impaired students in the San Francisco Unified School District, which resulted in a stipulated judgment requiring the District to make architectural and other access changes valued at over $300 million.
- Satchell, et al. v. FedEx Express, Inc.: a race discrimination class action on behalf of approximately 20,000 current and former employees of FedEx seeking pay equity and equal opportunity for promotions, which resulted in a settlement of $54.9 million.
- Holliman v. Kaiser Foundation Health Plan: Fair Labor Standards Act class action on behalf of health plan employees for unpaid overtime wages that resulted in a $9 million class settlement.

- National Federation of the Blind, et al., v. Target Corp., 582 F.Supp.2d 1185 (N.D. Cal. 2007): nationwide disability rights class action resulting in settlement for broad injunctive relief requiring Target Corporation to design its website to be accessible to blind individuals using screen access software and for $6 million, the largest damages fund in any class action brought on behalf of the blind.
- Tong v. CVS: a California wage and hour class action on behalf of pharmacists for unpaid wages, including overtime and straight-time wages and failure to provide adequate breaks, which resulted in a nearly $20 million settlement.
- Lenahan v. Sears: a Fair Labor Standards Act class action on behalf of product repair service technicians for unpaid wages, which resulted in a $15 million settlement.
- Elkin v. Six Flags: a California wage and hour class action on behalf of amusement park employees for failure to provide adequate breaks and failure to compensate for “off-the clock” work, which resulted in a $14 million settlement.
- Syran v. Lexis Nexis: a nationwide class action brought for violations of the Fair Credit Reporting Act on behalf of individuals whose personal information was disclosed, which resulted in extensive changes to Lexis’ security procedures in addition to a monetary settlement of $2.8 million.
- Singleton v. Regents of the University of California: A gender discrimination class action alleging that Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory paid its female employees less than their male counterparts and promoted them less often. This case settled for $10.6 million after protracted litigation.
